Introduction to Mendeley Course

February, 2013 Addis Ababa

What is Mendeley?

Mendeley is free software which provides reference management tools

Other reference management software that you might know: Endnote, Zotero, Procite, ...

Why this training? Using Mendeley will help you save time when preparing a paper.

What is Mendeley?

It allows users to

- manage references
- manage PDFs
- generate citations
- generate reference lists
- share references
- \rightarrow It is your digital library
- \rightarrow It is easy to manage

What will we learn in this course?

- Step 1: Create a reference database
- Step 2: Manage your database
- Step 3: Make reference lists and generate in-text citations
- Step 4: Share references
- Step 5: Access to your library online

Download Mendeley Desktop

http://www.mendeley.com/download-mendeleydesktop/welcome/

Create a database of references

Accessible

- → at your desktop
- → and from wherever online

- Some of the possibilities to add entries in your database:
- 1) Add Files: Select the files (pdfs, or for example citation files) to be inserted
- 2) Add Folder: Select a folder you want to import (for example the folder where you store relevant articles)
- 3) Watch Folder: Select a folder and any new pdfs in this folder will be inserted into Mendeley automatically
- 4) Add entry manually: for example when you do not have the pdf of the article, only the reference

Some of the possibilities to add entries in your database:

citation files

You find a interesting reference online, but the pdf is not accessible for free

→You can download the citation (for example as BibTex or RIS format) and then insert it in Mendeley (Add Files)

Some of the possibilities to add entries in your database:

citation files

You find a interesting reference online, but the pdf is not accessible for free

→You can download the citation (for example as BibTex or RIS format) and then insert it in Mendeley (Add Files)

Some of the possibilities to add entries in your database:

Import all (or a selection of) references from your Endnote database

- In EndNote, select the references that you want to import into Mendeley Desktop, and click File > Export...
- 2. In the window that appears, there is a box labeled 'Files of type:', in that box select 'XML (*.xml)'
- 3. Choose a name for the file and click the 'Save' button
- 4. Open Mendeley Desktop and click Add Files
- Select the file which you exported from EndNote and click
 Open

Exercise

- 1) Import at least 10 pdf's stored on your pc into your library (preferably at least one that you are citing in one of your papers in progress)
- 2) Make a folder on your computer "watched" by Mendeley, so all newly added pdf's or citation files will automatically be added to your database
- 3) Add a new pdf to the folder and check if it is added to your Mendeley library

Mendeley Course

The next step is to manage your database. You have to make it ready for citations. A clean database is crucial for the use of it!

Thus, check your newly inserted references and make the information correct.

Especially files added as pdf's need some clean-up.

Find your recently added references under 'Recently Added'

Differentiate between books, journal articles, book sections, conference proceedings, working papers, etc, as these different types of references are often requested in a different way in reference lists!

For example, reference list in IFPRI publications:

Byerlee, D., and C. K. Eicher. 1997. Africa's Emerging Maize Revolution. Boulder, CO: Lynne Rienner.

Diao, X., and A. N. Pratt. 2007. "Growth options and poverty reduction in Ethiopia – An economy-wide model analysis." Food Policy 32 (2): 205-228.

Docquier, F., and H. Rapoport. 2006. "The Economics of Migrants' Remittances." In Handbook of the Economics of Giving, Altruism, and Reciprocity. Vol. 2, edited by S.-C. Kolm and J. M. Ythier. Amsterdam: North Holland.

Avoid that different spellings of one author name are used

Useful tool for cleaning author names:

 → Filter by Authors
 Drag the incorrect spelling into the correct spelling
 Click OK on the Confirmation window

Create a folder to organize your database

For example, a folder for all the articles you use for a paper, or a folder with all the ESSP Working Papers

The next step is that you want to use your library for citation.

You are finalizing your paper to submit it to a journal... No longer type reference lists or copy and paste from other lists, but make your reference list in a few steps!

2 ways:

- 1) Select your references in Mendeley Desktop, Copy, and Paste the selection in Word where you want your reference list
- 2) Integrate Mendeley in Microsoft Word and create automatic in-text citations and reference lists

1) Select your references in Mendeley Desktop, Copy, and Paste the selection in Word where you want your reference list

You want to submit a paper to American Journal of Agricultural Economics. On their site you find that they follow the Chicago Manual of Style

- Select the citation style in Mendeley: View>>Citation Style>>More Styles>>Get More Styles>>Select it from the more than 2500 styles Unfortunately, not all styles are available, but you can or download styles or adapt a style to your wishes using the citation style editor
- 2. Copy your selected references in Mendeley
- 3. Paste them in Word

 \rightarrow Your reference list is ready (or almost...)

- 2) Integrate Mendeley in Microsoft Word and create automatic in-text citations and reference lists
 - 1. Install the Mendeley Word plug-in: Tools>>Install MS Word Plug-In
 - 2. Open your document in Microsoft Word
 - 3. Choose the citation style: References>>Style>>Click the style you want to use

- 2) Integrate Mendeley in Microsoft Word and create automatic in-text citations and reference lists.
 - 4. Insert an in-text citation: References>>Insert Citation>>search for example by author in the appearing box>>Select the reference>>OK
 - 5. Repeat that for all your citations

- 2) Integrate Mendeley in Microsoft Word and create automatic in-text citations and reference lists.
 - 6. Insert your reference list: References>>Insert Bibliography

You have managed a collection of references in the correct way, so no need for your co-authors to repeat the same \rightarrow You create a group to share that collection with your colleagues.

Or you and your co-authors are working together on the references \rightarrow You create a group to built the library together

- 1. Select Create Group
- 2. Public (share references) or Private (share references & PDFs)
- 3. Create Group
- 4. Invite people to your private group (max 5)
- 5. Drag references from My Library into the Group

You can also Export your database or a selection of it

- Select the references you want to export
- 2. File>>Export...
- In the window 'Export Selected Documents' choose in which format you want to save it (BibTex, XML, RIS)
- 4. You can send this file to your colleagues
- Your colleagues can import this file into Mendeley and enlarge their database with these references

Exercise

- 1) Create a group with the co-authors of the paper you are currently working on.
- 2) Make a selection of references from your Library available for this group.

Access to your Mendeley Web Library

Make your database and PDF's accessible to you from anywhere online (=your Mendeley Web Library)

- → First, in Mendeley Desktop, activate the file synchronization feature
- Make sure that "All Documents" is selected
- 2. Select "Edit Settings"
- Adjust the settings to your needs.
- 4. Synchronize your library

Online - offline

If you have made changes to your database via the online version, you should synchronize your desktop database with the online version.

There is a lot more... But I hope this gives you a good start!

Thank you
